

Do you love science fiction? Or writing itself?
In that case we have an idea: Our NewGlobal scenarios need illustration. And because they are global scenarios, we need as many different perspectives as possible.

Your chance: Simply take one of the scenarios as a basis and write a future story from your neighborhood, your region, your country.

A jury of futurists, consultants and science fiction authors will then select the best stories, which we will publish in an „extended version“ of our study report.

WRITE YOUR OWN FUTURE

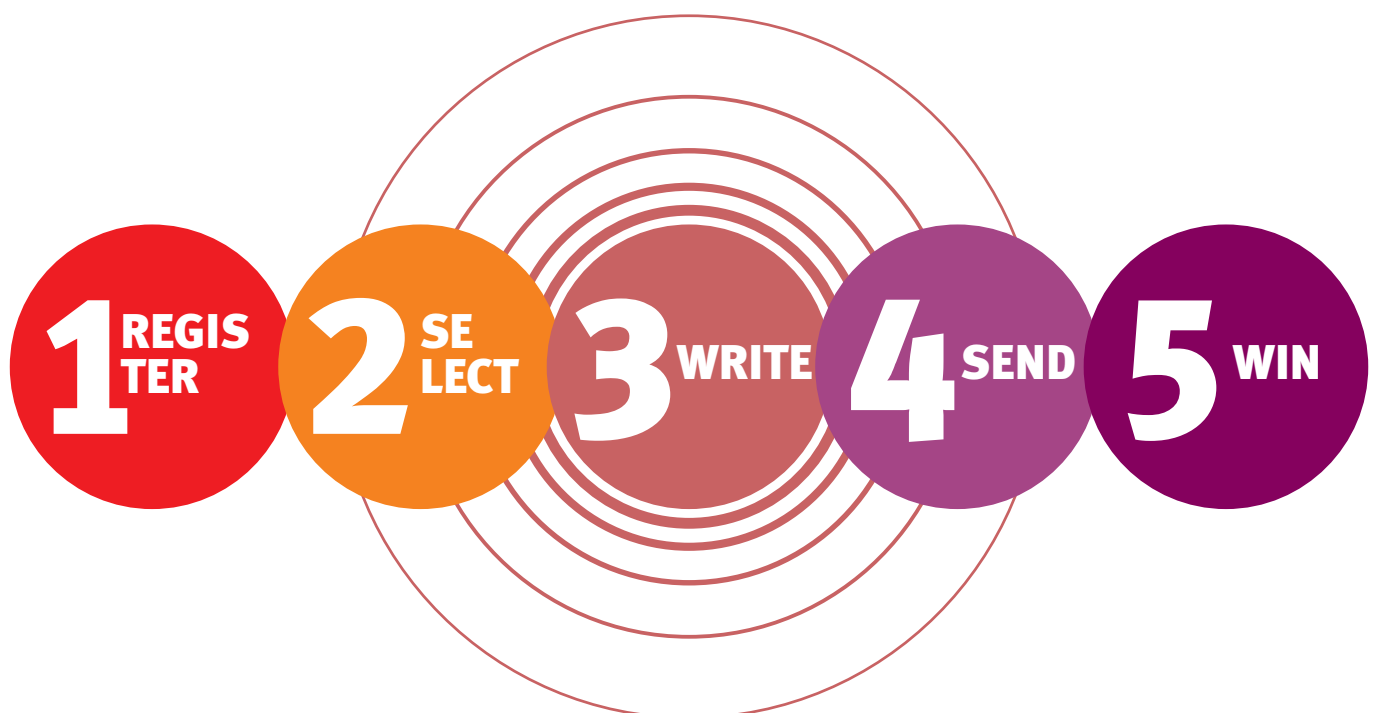

How do you imagine the New Global Scenarios?

Scenarios become particularly understandable and vivid when they are described as narratives from the future. We would love to read your story about one New Global Scenario you selected. A panel of renowned futurists & authors will look at the text submitted and select a story for each scenario, which will then be published in the expanded edition of the „New Global“ scenario study.

With our writing contest we address all interested individuals from across the world, including scenario thinkers and futurists, students and everyone who's always wanted to be a (science fiction) writer. No matter when you learned about our "New Global" Scenario project: We are keen to read your personal and creative stories regarding the future of your choice. It might be the most likely one from your point of view, or the one you would love to see coming true in the future? Maybe you want to describe your biggest fears to tell the world which developments we definitely have to prevent at all costs?

Feel free to take a choice and just start writing!

Your story should bring us into the future of the scenario chosen: How does it feel like to live 2035 in this world? What chances and challenges result from it? The more creative you get, the better. The stories can be anecdotal and present individual perspectives – you are free to write in your own style and select themes of personal importance.

1 REGISTER

Dear author, you have already downloaded this information sheet and considered entering the Writing Contest.

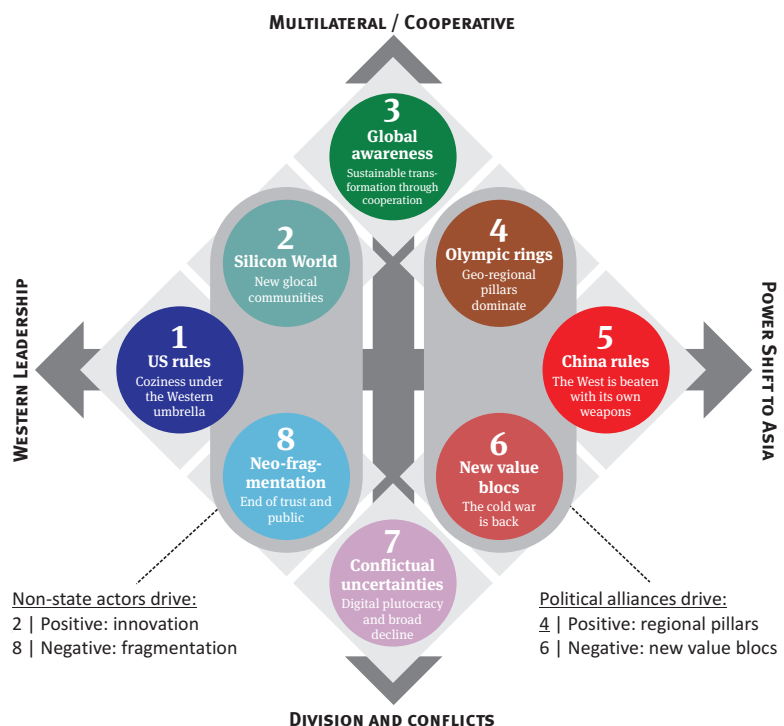

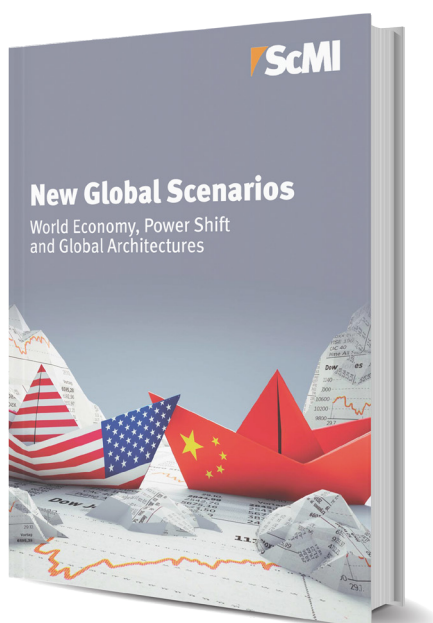

Now it's time to get started.

For this purpose we will gladly provide you with a template in which you can write your story (or in which you can insert your story later).

For this we ask you to send us an e-mail, so that we have your contact details and can inform you directly about any news.

2 SELECT

The eight New Global scenarios describe possible futures of the global world order. They are created systematically regarding their absence of contradictions, regardless our own expectations or mathematical probability. So please dare to jump and dive into the future of your choice – the scenario you want to come alive in your very own story. This might be the scenario you dream of, the one you fear or the one you would bet all your money on to come true. Just make your choice and feel, how the world would look like if you lived in a world like your scenario. If you want to get familiar with all the eight possible scenarios, take a deeper look into our New Global scenario report.

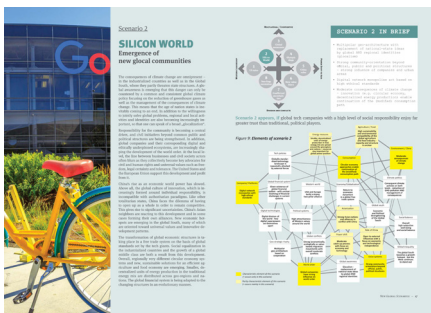

3 WRITE

How does your future look and feel like? What has changed in the future compared to today? How can these changes be made clear and tangible? What contradictions and what conflicts exist in the future? Who are the winners and losers? What is new in the future – and what will we have to do without?

Just start writing, and remember: There is no right or wrong, because this is a story of the future from your own personal perspective. Be brave, be open to the future and describe „your“ world in the year 2035.

And here are the few additional remarks:

- We are looking for stories with 1,600 to 1,800 words (approx. 10,000 characters).
- Do not try to rewrite the entire scenario again. Choose individual aspects and turn them into a personal story. Or simply write a story that fits into that scenario.
- There are no stylistic guidelines.
- The year 2035 (for which the scenario was developed) should be the temporal pivot of the story.

Headline of your story by YOU

Send us your story until 15th of January 2023 (info@scmi.de).
There are two ways to do this:

- (1) If you use the MS Word template, then you don't need to do anything else, because scenario, author information and consent form are already included in it.
- (2) If you have written your story in a different format, you can also send us this. In this case we will send you a short sheet with author information and consent form, which you please sign and send back to us.

Language should be English, please ...

If we have problems or questions, we will get in touch with you.

We are REALLY looking forward to your input! Please make us laugh,

smile,

cry,

discuss,

think_{or} dream ...
